Press Release

Venta Original Connect - The classic from Venta enters the Venta AirConnect world

Air humidification has been Venta's core competence for over 40 years. The devices of the new Original Connect series create an optimal humidity of 40-60% in the room and thus ensure healthy indoor air. What was previously done via direct operation of the devices via display can now also be set manually or automatically via Smart Home features via the Venta Home app.

From now on, the models of the Comfort Plus series are equipped with Wifi function and thus receive a new name "Original Connect". Thus, in addition to the touch display, the Air Humidifiers can be controlled via the Venta Home app.

In the Venta Home App, users can not only view the measured values for humidity and temperature and make predefined settings, but also select the intelligent automatic mode or the whisper-quiet sleep mode with dimmed display illumination - the app can do even more. In the future, the Original Connect devices can be controlled automatically via Venta AirConnect.

The WiFi-enabled Venta devices, the Venta Home App and the high-quality AirSense room climate and air quality meters work hand in hand to form the world of Venta AirConnect. With the help of the devices and valuable recommendations for action via the app, they support users in achieving good air quality. All Venta devices can be used together or separately.

Venta AirConnect: The care package for good indoor air

Inside, all devices of the Original series do their job with the technology of cold evaporation, proven for over 40 years. All Venta Air Humidifiers are based on the principle of cold evaporation, which is the most natural and recognized best method of humidification. It is the same humidification technology used in all high quality Airwasher models.

The Original Connect is equipped with the patented VentWave™3D plate stubble**, so that an especially high evaporation performance is achieved. In addition, the new VentWave™also reduces the burden on the environment by saving up to 31% of synthetic material thanks to its innovative 3D disk structure.*.
