PRESS RELEASE:

Indoor air experts from Venta unveil their products in the United Kingdom.

With immediate effect, high-end Airwashers by leading manufacturer Venta are available in the UK. The air quality is about to get much better, at least in the rooms of Venta customers.

Our home is the haven in our daily life and for some of us, it has even become our workplace. Therefore, an ideal room climate plays an important role in our day-to-day comfort.

Have you ever experienced the feeling of dryness in the air when you wake up or when the heating is too high? Properly humidified air helps us avoid unpleasant sensations and more generally feel better.

Weingarten, southern Germany, 1981: Venta's founder Fred Hitzler developed a revolutionary system of rotating discs allowing the impurities present in the ambient air to be trapped in a water bath, while humidifying it.

Today, forty years later, enriched by continuous research and development Venta is one of the leading manufacturers in Europe of devices for humidification and purification of indoor air (source: GfK study, Germany, July 2020).

Committed to preserving the environment, we select materials and packaging responsibly, design devices sustainably and for low energy consumption. Customers all over the world appreciate our "Made in Germany" quality and our products are recognized for their reliability and ease of use: once started, you don't need to worry about it anymore, just breathe.
